

THE CARELESS Ant

Once upon a sunny
day, there was a little ant named Andy.

Andy was a happy ant
who loved to explore.

One day, while Andy
was wandering
around,

he didn't watch where he was going and accidentally stepped on a big rock. Oh no! Andy hurt his tiny foot.

But instead of being careful,
Andy just kept
going, not paying attention to the rocks and twigs
on the ground.

As he went further,
he bumped into his
ant friend, Alex.

Alex saw Andy's
sad face and asked, "What happened,
Andy?"

!!

"I hurt my foot,"

Andy said sadly.

Alex reminded Andy, "We need to be careful while walking, Andy.
Look where you're going, so
you don't get hurt."

Andy realized his mistake and promised to be more careful.

A cartoon illustration of a small, black ant named Andy walking along a path in a forest. The ant has large, white eyes and two antennae. It is walking towards the right. The forest is filled with tall, thin trees and large, reddish-brown leaves. Sunlight filters through the trees, creating a warm, golden glow. The ground is covered in fallen leaves and small plants. The overall scene is peaceful and serene.

From that day on, Andy paid attention to the path he walked, making sure he didn't hurt himself or others.

The moral of the story is: "Be careful and watch where you go, so you stay safe and happy."
