

DREAM Trip to SPACE

This enchanting children's fairy tale is a magical fantasy with valuable life lessons, so remember, it's all just pretend and enjoy the journey with parental guidance

Hawwa was a little girl who loved reading. One day, she read a book about space. It had pictures of stars, planets, and the Moon.

While
reading, Hawwa got tired and fell asleep
with the book.

In her dream, Hawwa flew in a small rocket through space. She saw Mercury, a tiny planet close to the Sun. It was very hot, like a sunny day.

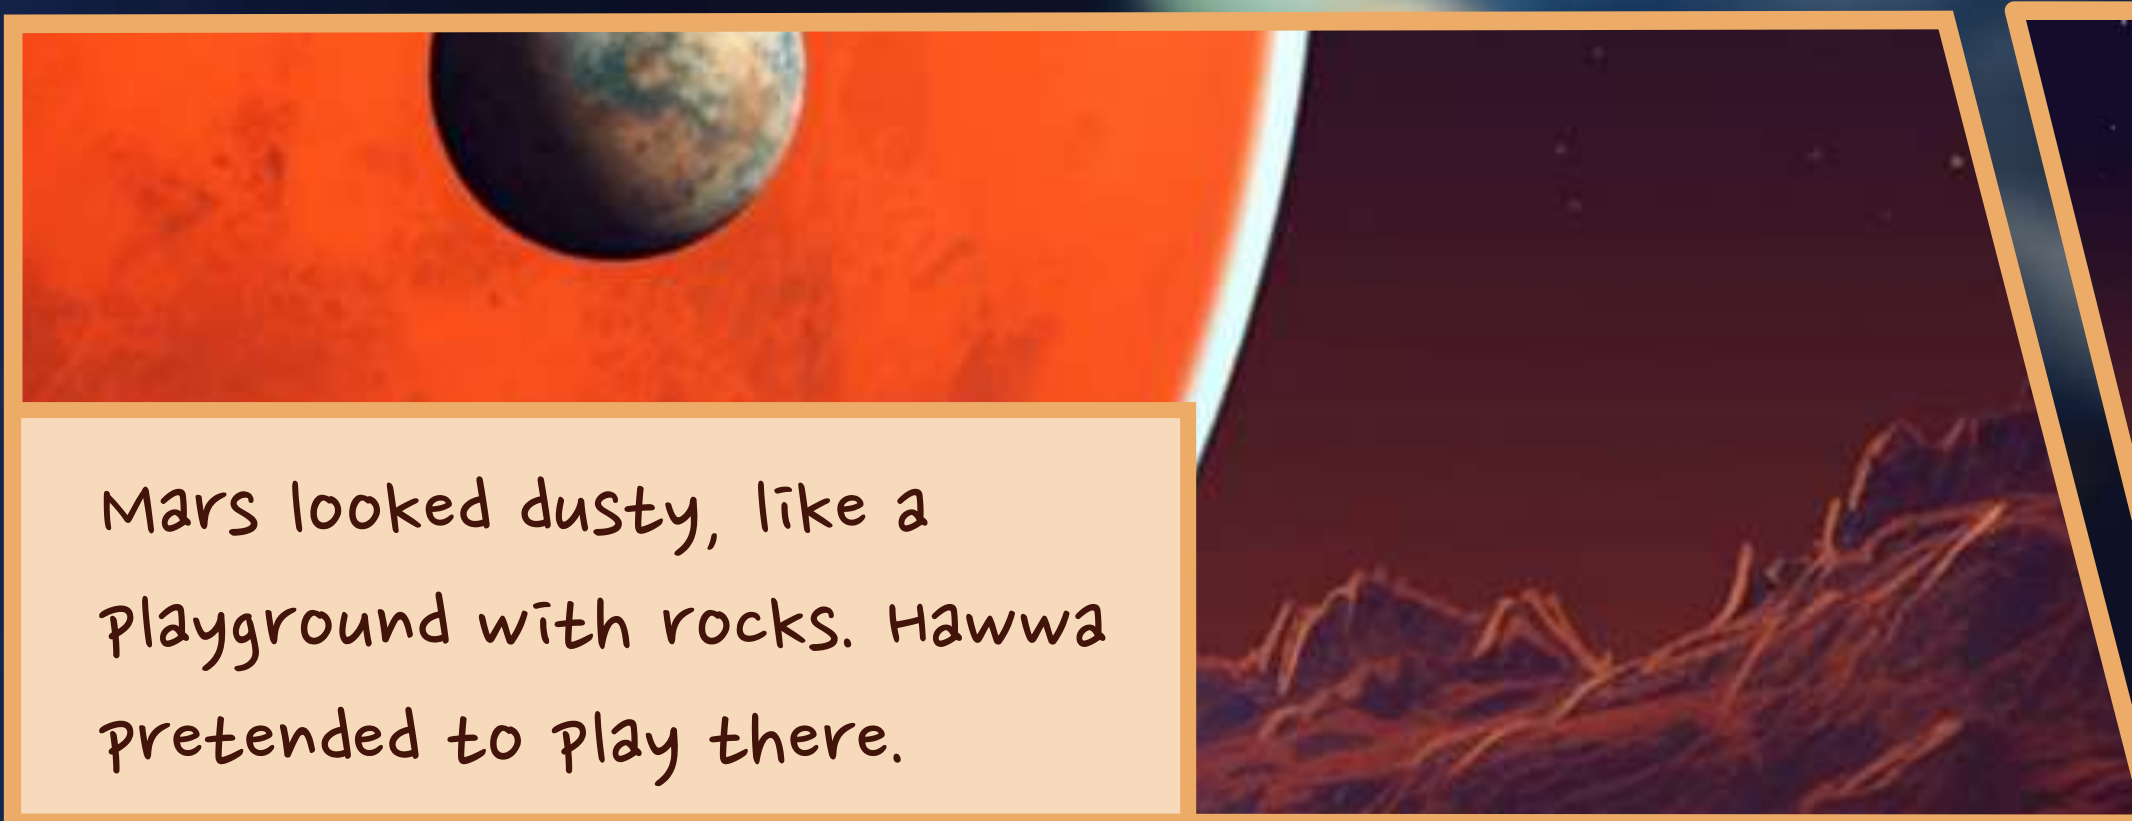

Then came venus, shining like a bright star. Hawwa remembered that venus was super hot.

Next was Earth, our home. Hawwa saw blue oceans and white clouds.
She waved to people below.

Mars looked dusty, like a playground with rocks. Hawwa pretended to play there.

Jupiter was huge with colorful stripes. Hawwa thought it looked like a big ball.

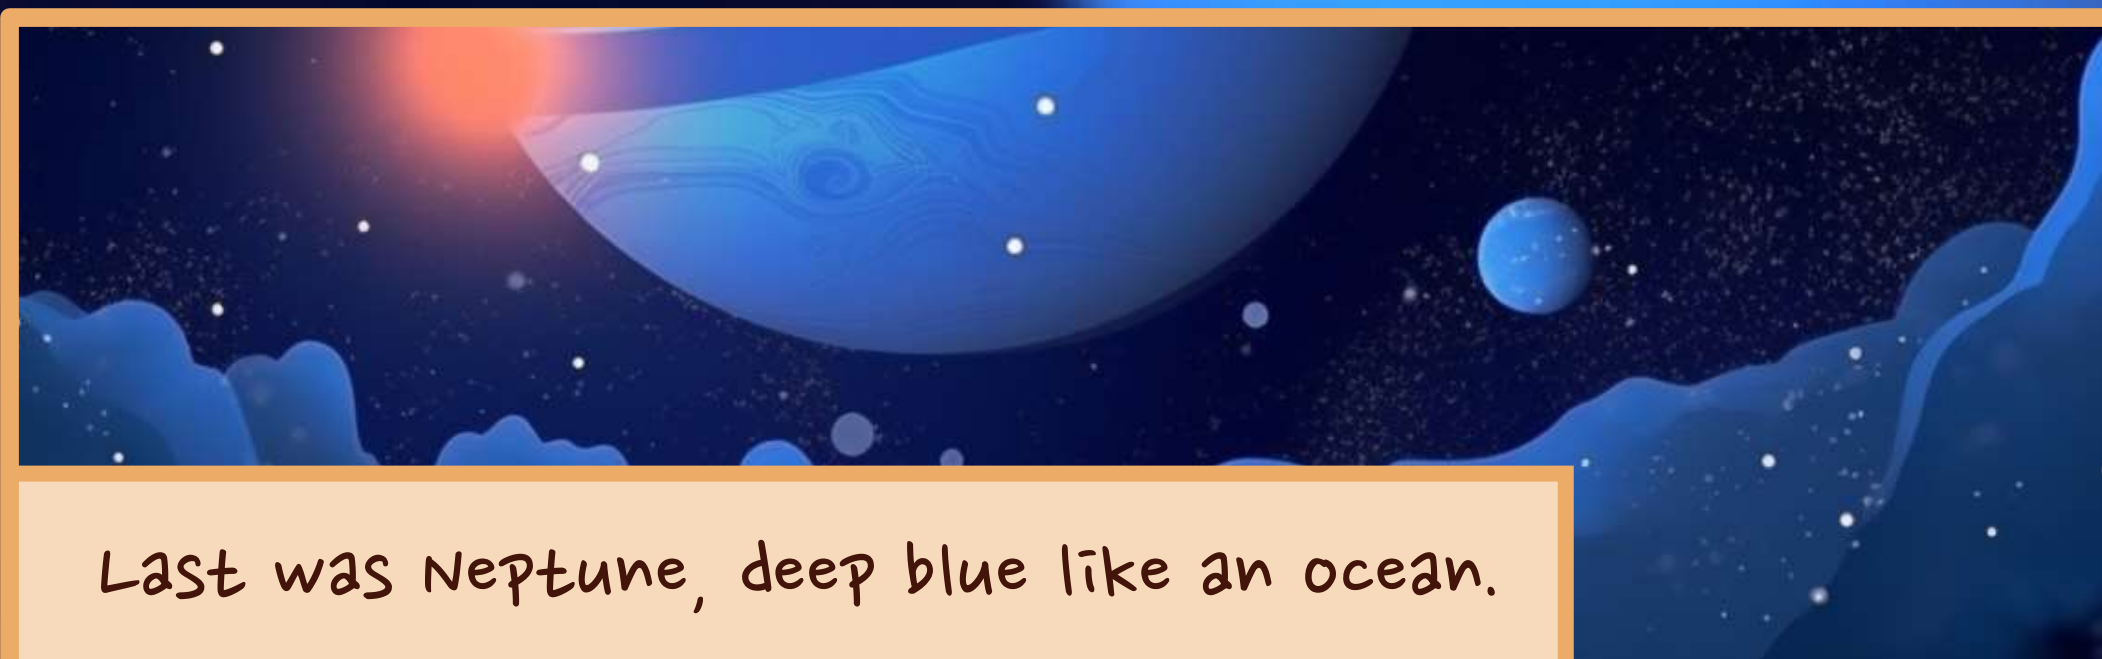

Saturn had pretty rings made of ice. Hawwa imagined hula-hooping with them.

Uranus was sideways, rolling around. Hawwa thought it was funny.

Last was Neptune, deep blue like an ocean.

Hawwa's dream was amazing. She explored planets just like in her book.

Her rocket brought her back home,
and she woke up with a smile.

Even though she was small, she could have big dreams. Looking at the night sky, she remembered her trip among the planets and stars.
